

When I Must Leave You

When I must leave you for a little while, Please do not grieve and shed wild tears
And hug your sorrow to you through the years. But start out bravely with a gallant smile;
And for my sake and in my name Live on and do all things the same.
Feed not your loneliness on empty days, But fill each waking hour in useful ways.
Reach out your hand in comfort and in cheer And I in turn will comfort you and hold you near;
And never, never be afraid to die, For I am waiting for you in the sky!

Life Reflections

WILLIE SMITH, son of the late Jimmie Smith and Hester Smith, was born August 25, 1920.

Willie Smith was educated in the public schools of Charleston, South Carolina.

Willie worked forty years and retired from North Charleston Treatment Plant. He then volunteered his services to drive for the South Carolina Disabilities Board, where he drove patients to and from doctors appointments. He had a great love for hunting and fishing, and enjoyed cooking.

Willie was joined in holy wedlock to the late Beatrice Smith. They were united for forty-six plus years.

Willie answered the roll call on March 3, 2011 with his son, Jeremiah Smith at his bedside. He was preceded in death by: his wife, Beatrice Smith; brothers, Jimmy and Lymas Smith; sister, Martha Pryor; stepson, Howard Davis; and granddaughter, Robin Miller; grandson, Robert Miller; previous wife, Marguerite Bryant Smith (mother of Janie Mae Thompson and Mildred Miller).

Willie leaves to cherish his life memories: his children, Janie Mae Thompson, Mildred Miller, Willie Mae Smith, James Smith, John Smith (Nette), Charity Smith, Jeremiah Smith (Tyee), and Lymas Smith; step-children, Mary Mention and Angela Wiley (Nathaniel); aunt, Ida Mae Blandon; nephews, Sam Pryor, Michael Smith, John Smith; niece, Codretta Smith; twenty-one grandchildren, twelve great-grandsons, and a host of other relatives and loving friends.

*God saw he was getting tired, and a cure was not to be;
So He put His arms around him, and whispered, "Come with Me".*

*With tearful eyes we watched, him fade away;
Although we loved him dearly, we could not make him stay.
A golden heart stopped beating, hard working hands to rest;
God broke our hearts to prove to us, He only takes the best.*
